THE CLASSICST CLASSICS

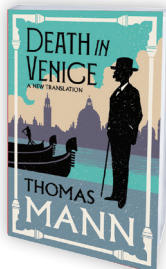

20

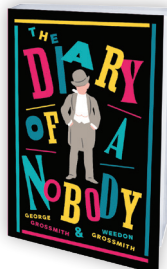

YEARS OF INDEPENDENT PUBLISHING

www.almabooks.com

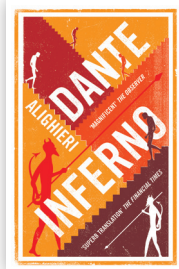

Alma Classics' Evergreens list is a series of popular classics, incorporating a wide range of literature from around the globe. Most of the titles are enriched by an extensive critical apparatus, notes and extra reading material, as well as a selection of photographs. The texts are based on the most authoritative edition and edited using a fresh, accessible editorial approach. With an emphasis on production, editorial and typographical values, Alma Classics aspires to revitalize the whole experience of reading classics.

WAR: REDISCOVERED NOVEL

TRANSLATION BY SANDER BERG

First Ever English Translation of an unpublished work by the author of Journey to the End of the Night

A powerfully vivid, unflinching, darkly comical exploration of the physical and mental trauma of the Western Front, which provides a fascinating missing link in the writing career of one of the greatest – and most controversial – authors of the twentieth century.

Hardback • 192 pp • £14.99 • ISBN 9781847499165

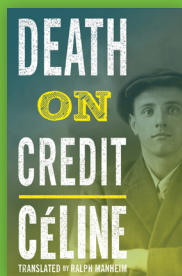

By all means buy this fascinating little volume... It is an extraordinary work, hysterical in tone and demented in content. Had it been completed, it might have been a masterpiece; as it stands, or staggers, it is deeply disturbing and horribly compelling – John Banville

MOUCHE: THE LAST DAYS OF HEINRICH HEINE CAMILLE SELDEN Translated and Edited by Richard Stokes

Bedridden and wracked with pain, the German poet Heinrich Heine was visited one day by an attractive young German woman, Elise Krinitz, who had come to Paris to give the poet a few sheets of music from an admirer of his poetry. Heine called her "Mouche", because she wore a seal that was embellished with a fly. She visited him almost daily, read aloud to him, translated some of his poems into French and acted as his amanuensis. Mathilde, Heine's wife, tolerated the relationship but avoided all contact with her. Mouche brightened his final days, inspired the most moving love poems he ever penned, and wrote down some of his late verse to Heine's own dictation.

Offering a personal, poignant, more intimate look at the final seven months of Heine's life in Paris, Mouche will surprise and enchant in equal measure all the admirers of the great German lyric poet and all music lovers.

ACROSS SICILY WITH GARIBALDI'S THOUSAND BY TIM PARKS

Drawing on a wealth of contemporary diaries and other first-hand accounts by the protagonists of the events, and interspersing them with his own penetrating remarks, best-selling author Tim Parks retraces the journey of the "Mille" through the ragged landscape of Sicily under the blazing summer heat, bringing back to life an entire world in all its intricate complexity. Along the way he revisits old controversies and provides answers to many unresolved questions – as well as offering a vivid commentary on the Italy of today.

WRITTEN IN WATER KEATS'S FINAL JOURNEY BY ALESSANDRO GALLENZI

Enthralling and original... Gallenzi's meticulous commitment to his subject shines through. Although he presents himself as something of an embattled outsider, he is working within, and contributing to, a long tradition of Keats scholarship. There's no doubt that all Keatsians will appreciate the new details and insights he adds to our picture of the poet's last five months. – Lucasta Miller, The Spectator

A TALE OF ONE JANUARY

Poland, January 1945. Two women and four men escape from a Nazi death march. Each is from a different background and a different country, but all have endured the horrors of imprisonment in Auschwitz. They find refuge in an abandoned factory, and suddenly they realize that they are no longer mere numbers.

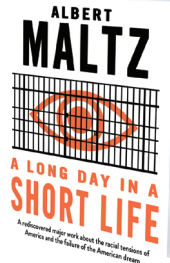

'A novel about an affirmation in man's ability, not only to survive, but to recreate himself, to rise above the suffering and viciousness through which he has passed' – The Times

A LONG DAY IN A SHORT LIFE

A Long Day in a Short Life – Maltz's first novel to be published in the UK after being "blacklisted" by the US government – is a powerful indictment of the penal system and a strong reminder about the underlying humanity of each individual.

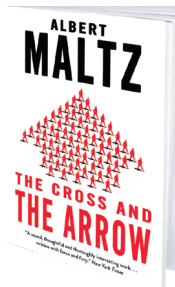

A rediscovered major work about the racial tension of America and the failure of the American dream

'A beautifully told story, full of excitement, humour and authentic American talk.' – The Worker

THE CROSS AND THE ARROW

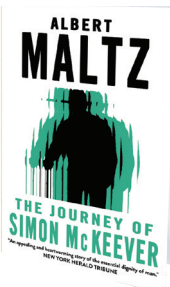

Despite being decorated with a German Service Cross, Willi Wegler is inwardly sickened by both Hitler's genocidal war and the complicity of his fellow citizens in Third Reich brutalities. Wracked by guilt, he suddenly betrays his country in a profound gesture of protest and self-sacrifice

'A sound, thoughtful and thoroughly interesting work... written with force and fury' – New York Times

THE JOURNEY OF SIMON MCKEEVER

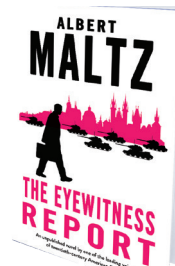

Former oil worker, untutored philosopher, dreamer, man of laughter possessed with an indomitable spirit, seventy-three-year-old Simon McKeever runs away from a shabby state-run home for the elderly in Sacramento and hitch-hikes a ride to Los Angeles, in search of a cure for his arthritis.

'The novel brilliantly describes the angst of the aging process for someone who wants to continue to be a productive member of society' – People's World

THE EYEWITNESS REPORT

The scene opens in Moscow in August 1968. Forty-two-year-old Daniil Petrovich Barkov is a prizewinning writer whose life is at a crossroads. On a Sunday afternoon in Red Square, Barkov witnesses a peaceful demonstration for human rights. Within moments, KGB agents arrest the protesters with shocking brutality. Barkov is moved by their bravery, but resists the impulse to join them. The guilt-ridden author vows to write an eyewitness report, a burning polemic against rule by aggression, which will show his growth as an artist.

The Eyewitness Report has been left unpublished by its author at his death and presented here for the first time

MAN ON A ROAD

The titular story in this collection, Man on a Road – which famously led to the 1936 congressional hearings that exposed the worst industrial disaster in American history – is a snapshot of appalling capitalist exploitation from the perspective of a walking-dead miner slowly suffocating from silicosis. 'The Happiest Man on Earth', winner of the 1938 O. Henry Award, is about a man who, desperate to feed his family and regain his dignity, embarks on a long journey on foot in his quest for a job, while 'The Way Things Are' renders the terrors of the Jim Crow South with unflinching realism, foreshadowing the aesthetics and politics of the civil-rights movement.

'Husband and Wife' is published here for the first time.

ALMA JUNIOR

Alma Junior's series of illustrated classics includes some of the greatest books ever written for younger readers, as well as new translations of unjustly neglected international works. Our aim is to give our list an international feel and offer young readers the opportunity to connect with other cultures and literatures – this applies not only to the titles we choose but also to the illustrators we commission – so that we can bring a bit of novelty into the canon of British children's literature.

TIMELESS STORIES WITH A MODERN LOOK FROM ILLUSTRATORS YOU LOVE

Each volume contains extra material for young readers including:

- a profile of the author
- a section about the book
- a list of characters
- a glossary
- a test-yourself quiz

All editions are unabridged

This series includes new translations of international children's classics

All our books are beautifully illustrated

PINOCCHIO BY CARLO COLLODI

NEW TRANSLATION BY STEPHEN PARKIN
WITH ILLUSTRATIONS BY PETER BAILEY

The story of a naughty wooden puppet who has a penchant for lying and dreams of becoming a real boy, The Adventures of Pinocchio has entered our collective imagination and fascinated generations of young and adult readers since its first publication in 1883. Part fable, part coming-of-age novel, part cautionary tale, Pinocchio's rollicking exploits through an unforgiving and often incomprehensible world – populated by unforgettable characters such as the Talking Cricket, Candlewick, Mangiafuoco and the Fairy with Turquoise Hair – have had a profound impact on our culture and attained universal significance as a mirror of the human condition.

Here presented in a brand-new and lively translation by Stephen Parkin and illustrated beautifully by Peter Bailey, this edition of The Adventures of Pinocchio brings extra sparkle to one of the greatest and most celebrated works of children's literature.

THE ADVENTURES OF PIPÌ THE PINK MONKEY BY CARLO COLLODI

EDITED AND TRANSLATED FOR THE FIRST TIME BY A. GALLENZI
WITH COLOUR ILLUSTRATIONS BY AXEL SCHEFFLER

Collodi wrote this story immediately after Pinocchio, and the little monkey's adventures present clear similarities, both in terms of themes and characters, with his more celebrated masterpiece. Incredibly, they also share some characters, including a ten-year-old boy named Alfred who was once a wooden puppet.

Pipì isn't like his four brothers or the other young monkeys living in the forest of Hullabaloo: he has bright-pink fur, a mischievous character and a rebellious streak that lands him into all sorts of scrapes. In this story, an expanded version of Collodi's original tale, we see him lose his tail to an ancient crocodile, end up as a valet to a young master, fall into the hands of flying bandits and become emperor of a tribe of apes.
